JUDGE LETCHER.

Colonel S. H. Letcher Appointed Judge Of The Thirteenth Circuit.

Colonel S. Houston Letcher has been appointed by Governor J. Hoge Tyler as Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit, vice Judge William McLaughlin, deceased.

The following telegram was received here Monday announcing the appointment of Mr. Letcher:

East Radford, Va., Aug. 22, 1898. To R. R. Witt:

Have just ordered commission to be issued to Senator Letcher to succeed the la cented Judge McLaughlin. J. HOGE TYLER.

Mr. Tucker May Be One

Of The Peace Commissioners to Sit at Paris Soon.

A dispatch from Washington says: It is rumored at the State Department that ex-Congressman Tucker, of Virginia, who was a member of the House Foreign Committee may be appointed as the Democratic member of the Peace Commission. He is now a professor at Lexington and is a gold man. The salary of a member of the commission is $25,000, and all expenses paid in going to and coming from Paris, and accommodations at the most luxurious hotel in that city.

Effects of a Carbuncle.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE. Judge McLaughlin was a son of Edward I. McLaughlin and Elizabeth Nesbitt. He was born December 27, 1827, and reared at Bell's Valley, near Goshen. He was the youngest of ten children and was the last of his immediate family. His youth was spent on his father's farm and in assisting his father as county surveyor. He graduated from Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, in 1850, taking the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and studied law at the famous law school of Judge Brockenbrough. He fterwards began the practice of his profession in Lexington in partnership with John D. Sterrett. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the Confederate army as a lieutenant in the Rockbridge Artillery, of which the late General W. N. Pendleton was captain. He was subsequently appointed a major of artillery and served in the Valley with General Jubal A. Early. Before the close of the war he had been promoted to be lieutenant-colonel. His battalion took an active part in the battle of New Market, and especially distinguished

After the surrender be returned to Lexington and resumed the practice of law and succeeded in building up a lucrative business. He was a member of the post-bellum Virginia Constitutional Convention and was a member of the House of Delegates from Rockbridge for one term, closing in 1870. Subsequently he was elected Circuit Judge for the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit, in which capacity he served to the time of his death. From 1872 to 1874 he was judge of the Special Court of Appeals composed of Judges Barton, Wingfield a trustee of Washington Coilege in 1865, and in 1888 he was made rector of the Board of Trustees of the University to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Francis T. Anderson. He was an active member of Lee-Jackson Camp of Confederate Veteran-, of this place, and always manifested the greatest interest in the Camp. Judge McLaughlin was of Scotch Irish ancestry and he was proud of the fact. To that strain was due the ruggedness of his character. He was a man of commanding presence and distinguished for a memory of extraordinary power. An accurate and painstaking lawyer and judge, he accomplishease. He was a devoted friend of county of Reckbridge. He was for years chairman of the County Finance ground, near Roaring Run. Committee and to his efforts and ability we are indebted for the good showing Judge McLaughlin was twice married, his first wife being Miss Sallie Mays daught r of Hon. Thomas Mays, o. Montgomery, Ala. She died in 1884. In 1887 he married Mrs. Fannie Coffman, of Harrisonburg, daughter of the late Jacob Bear, formerly of Lexington, who survives him.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral took place Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock from the Prebyterian church, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Thornton Whaling, assisted by Rev. Dr. James A. Quarles, of Washington and Lee University. A large crowd was present from town and county and many from a distance. A special train was run from Staunton bringing many members of the bar of that city. As a mark of respect the business houses of Lexington closed during the funeral. Oliver G. Nutty, age I twenty years, son of Join Nutty, of the Rockridge Boths, while engaged in helping to buncle on his right chees, a dit w s thresh wheat for Mr. William Snider, was almost instantly killed and horribly mangled on last Friday by falling into the machine. He was in the barn standing on a plank over the threshbox throwing down wheat from the overhead mow, when the plank suddenly broke and he fell directly into the feed of the machine. His legs were drawn into contact with the cylinder which was running at a high rate of speed and were terribly torn, one of them being litterally cut into shreds. The lower bowels were also much torn. He died > several hours afterwards. The funeral services were held Satur day by Rev. A. C. McNeer at Bethesda Presbyterian church, the interment being made in the church yard there.

Mrs. Cunningham Tries to Take Her Life By Hanging Herself.

Mrs. Nannie Cunningham, wife of Jacob N. Cunningham, of the Denmark neighborhood, attempted to take her life Thursday, while under the influence of mental aberration, caused by continued illness. She went to an outhouse for chicken feed, and not returning, her son investigated the cause, and found his mother suspended by a rope from an overhead beam. She was nearly dead from strangulation. He cut her down, but she did not recover her speech until Friday morning. She lingered until Friday night when she Attempted Suicide.

A Farmer Attempts to Kill Himself With a Winchester Rifle.

Mr. Thomas Kayton, a farmer near Alone fried to commit suicide at his home last Thursday by shooting himself with a Winchester rifle. The ball struck a rib over the heart and glanced, coming out at his back. The cause assigned is domestic troubles which unbalanced his mind. Another theory advanced is that his rash act was the result of drink. He was formerly a dissipated man, but for the past ten yearf he has not touched liquor. At the reunion here on Wednesday last of the old soldiers he met up with some of his former companions with whom he used to drink and yielding to pressing invitations he again indulged quite freely. He is improving now and will soon be out again.
